

REMARKS

In response to the Office Action mailed September 1, 2009, the application has been carefully reviewed and amended. The changes requested of the specification have been made to page 4. Entry of this amendment and reconsideration of the application is respectively requested. Claims 1-7 are pending in the application. Claims 3-5 have been amended to more particularly claim the invention described, to overcome informalities, and to overcome the objections raised by the Examiner. Claims 8 -15 have been added.

These changes are also in response to the 135 §112 objections and specifically address these objections. The Applicants note that a temperature range or temperature window of 30°K-50°K is identical to a temperature window of 30°C-50°C, as 1°K is -273.15°C. If temperature windows are constructed they are the same in the °C and °K. temperature scale. Even though the ranges are the same, in order to use consistent units the range has been amended to a temperature range or temperature window of 30°C-50°C which is identical to show a temperature window of 30°K-50°K. Also, for consistency the word "range" in claim 4 has been changed to the word "window".

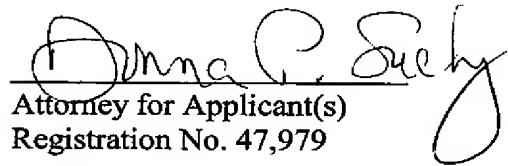

Similarly the word "range" is used in the meaning of "window" (see specification page 4, lines 15-17) and has been amended as such in the appropriate claims. In claims 5 and 6 the word "range" is meant "region" (see specification page 4, lines 17-19) and has been corrected to better clarify the meaning and reflect what is in the specification.

The Examiner also rejected the claims under 35 §103 as being obvious in light of Pazckowski (5,799,236) combined with Behnke (2002/0088799). As the Examiner thought, the subject matter of the various claims were commonly owned at the time of the applications so the 103(a) rejection is not applicable. Nexpress is owned by Eastman Kodak.

Should the Examiner consider that additional amendments are necessary to place the application in condition for allowance, the Examiner is invited to call the undersigned counsel for the purpose of discussing such amendments and expediting prosecution of this application towards allowance.

Respectfully submitted,
